

Freedom of Information Publication Scheme

Title	Reports and Statistics
Summary	Fees and chargeable rates

There are a limited range of activities where it is appropriate for the force to make charges to recover costs of policing services provided.

The force can make charges to individuals or organisations to recover costs of policing services provided. To ensure consistency across the service these charges are set in accordance with National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) and the Association of Police and Crime Commissioners (APCC) guidelines for charging for police services. The Fees and Chargeable rates report sets out these charges.

National Policing Guidelines on Charging for Police Services