1. Preface

1.1 Background

- 1.1.1 The NPCC Guidance on The Minimum Standards for the Retention and Disposal of Police records has been produced by the Records Management Working Group on behalf of the National Police Chiefs’ Council (NPCC) to assist police forces in their statutory responsibility to comply with the Data Protection legislation (GDPR EU 2016/679 and Data Protection Act 2018), Police Information and Records Management Code of Practice and other legislative requirements. The Information Management – Management of Police Information section of the Authorised Professional Practice (APP) is the detailed guidance.
- 1.1.2 The Guidance recognises the need for a common approach across the police service to the retention and disposal of police records following the Soham Murders, the subsequent Bichard Enquiry and recent developments in relation to the Police National Database (PND) which allows police forces to share information in a way that was not previously possible.
- 1.1.3 The Guidance also recognises that the police service creates a plethora of records in the course of the delivery of policing which falls outside the CPIA and other guidance. It is these records that the Guidance is primarily trying to address.
- 1.1.4 The Guidance sets the minimum standards for the police service which all police forces are encouraged to adopt. They are not mandatory and there will be occasions when individual police forces will deviate from them for a variety of technical, operational and organisational reasons. The ultimate responsibility for the retention and disposal of police information rests with the chief constables who are the data controllers under the Data Protection Act 2018.
- 1.1.5 A particular record may exist in several formats such as both paper and electronic. At the point of retention / storage consideration should be given to storing a record in a single form at such as electronic and deleting the duplicated information. When records are stored for long periods due consideration needs to be given to protect and preserve the record against accidental loss, deterioration and obsolescence.
- 1.1.6 The primary target audience for the guidance is chief constables (in their capacity as data controllers), records managers and others directly involved in the management of police information. However it has been designed to be accessible to all police officers and police staff.
- 1.1.7 The guidance refers to all information, regardless of the medium in which it is stored.

1.2 Evidential Material

- 1.2.1 The APP on MoPI provides the following specific guidance in relation to the retention of evidential material, “There is a subset of policing information and records that relates to evidential material. This refers to any physical property, digital data or media that is downloaded or recovered, could form part of the evidence of a criminal offence and may become a court exhibit in any judicial proceedings. This could include downloads from mobile phones, body-worn video footage and CCTV. This definition applies to both digital and physical evidence. Any unused evidential material should be examined as part of a robust post-case review and consideration should be given to the need for retention or disposal under the Criminal Procedure and Investigations Act (CPIA) 1996. Other evidential material should be retained in line with this APP. However, forces should work towards systems and processes that will allow the efficient deletion of evidential material within the CPIA 1996 timescales, in line with the National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC) National Digital and Physical Evidence Retention Guidance. Metadata relating to digital material should be retained under MoPI as part of the record."

2. Responsibilities for Records Retention and Disposal

- 2.1 Assigning responsibility for the retention and disposal of information is down to each individual Police Force.
- 2.2 Forces will need to document when retention periods are calculated from according to systems and requirements.
- 2.3 Forces should document within their own retention schedule their rationale where it states "Force Policy" within this document.

3. Risk

- 3.1 Responsibility for the managing and use of information within the police service rests with the chief officer of the police force that owns the information.
- 3.2 There are inherent risks attached to the retention and disposal of police records which directly affect operational policing, public protection and public confidence.
- 3.3 This guidance provides chief police officers with a common and consistent approach to the retention and disposal of police records that seeks to balance proportionality and necessity.

4. Benefits of a Retention and Disposal Schedule

- 4.1 There are a number of benefits which arise from the use of a retention schedule:
  - (a) Allows the management of information to be consistent and compliant.
  - (b) The Police Service can be confident about disposal information at the appropriate time.
  - (c) The Police Service is not maintaining and storing information unnecessarily.

5. Disposal

- 5.1 Disposal means deleting or destroying a record to the extent that it cannot be retrieved.

6. Management of Police Information (MoPI)

- 6.1 In addition to legislative requirements the chief constables have to pay due regard to issued APP Information Management MoPI. This retention and disposal schedule has where necessary made reference to MoPI / Groups 1-3.
- 6.2 Individual forces should follow local policies and procedures in place for the review and assessment of information and use the APP National Retention Assessment Criteria Form where necessary.

7. Maintenance

- 7.1 This document will be reviewed and maintained every two years by the NPCC Records Management Working Group. Additions and amendments where required for legislative purposes will be updated as and when required.
